

About us:

We are a group of committed, pragmatic and passionate students as well as young professionals who have made it their mission to send immediate help to the children living in areas of crisis. We are ensuring creative logistics solutions in order to directly send donations (e.g. school supplies, toys, footballs and children's clothing) and distribute them to the children in need. We have made it our mission to give the kids who are affected by a catastrophe, a piece of their childhood back. In order to achieve our goals and expand, we need every help. You can support us too!

How did it all start?

We started after the Beirut blast on the 4th of August 2020. We were really shocked after seeing the pictures of the explosion in the news. We couldn't just stay still and we really wanted to be there and help on the ground. In cooperation with Sundair airline, we were able within 10 days to: build a Berlin-Beirut transport airlift, get a customs clearance and collect donations in Berlin. Upon arrival the donations got distributed to different local organisations. We were able to collect clothes for more than 1000 kids, many teddy bears, over 10,000 pens and some Corona masks. In the meantime we are also opening our logistics pipelines to more NGOs that can also benefit from them.

Our mission

Disasters happen overall in the world. Every time, they target children, take away a piece of their childhood and change their lives fundamentally. Our mission is to make sure to give back to the children in areas of crisis, a piece of their childhood. This mission should be, in our opinion, as important as any budgets that are usually immediately sent to build back destroyed buildings or infrastructure. As soon as we achieve our initial step of sending over donations to the areas in crisis, we would also like to open our logistics pipelines to other NGOs. This way we can also help out other organisations to send over their donations as fast as possible. We see ourselves as a bridge between different mediums. We believe that through joint efforts, we can change the world together!

Our vision

Children have the right to live fully their childhood in this world. They are the future and need to be protected in order to enjoy their time peacefully. Disasters can occur at any time in the world so we have to be prepared to help the children suffering at any time.
